

PASS THE PARCEL

GAME

How to Play Passing the Pass:

1. Preparation:

- Wrap a small gift or prize in several layers of wrapping paper.
- Between each layer, include a small note with fun challenges (e.g., "Sing a song," "Do 5 jumping jacks") or tiny prizes like candies.

2. Set Up:

- Gather the players in a circle.
- Get some music ready (a playlist or someone controlling the play/pause).

3. Gameplay:

- Start the music and have players pass the parcel around the circle.
- When the music stops, the person holding the parcel removes one layer of wrapping.
- If there's a note inside, they must complete the challenge before resuming the game.
- Continue until the final layer is unwrapped, revealing the main prize.

4. Rules:

- If someone hesitates or doesn't pass the parcel quickly, you can add penalties or funny consequences to keep things exciting.

Why it's Fun:

- Element of Surprise: Each layer has something different—players never know what’s coming next.
- Challenges Bring Laughter: Funny dares or tasks get everyone involved and lighten the mood.
- Inclusive and Social: Everyone gets a chance to participate, making it a great icebreaker.
- Anticipation Builds Excitement: The final prize keeps players eager to stay in the game.
